Oakfield Primary, Writing with Exciting Sentences: A Policy for Progression

The new national curriculum sets out expectations for children's writing skills from year one to year six. In the introduction to the programmes for each block of study, it is clear that children need to be exploring a variety of sentence structures and drawing on this learning when composing their own writing. At Oakfield, we believe implementing Alan Peat's 'exciting sentences' in every year group will ensure that we are meeting this aspect of the national curriculum, giving the children opportunities to explore a variety of sentence structures across the key stages. In addition, children will have the opportunity to explore a range of punctuation in context at the appropriate time.

In order to meet the demands of the national curriculum, we have created a policy for progression which introduces 'exciting sentences' to coincide with the expectations of the national curriculum. There are a minimum of two sentences in each year group which means each sentence type can be explored and extended throughout the year ensuring they are embedded in each child's sentence repertoire. This in turn, adds to a mastery approach by allowing depth of understanding and demonstration of use in a range of contexts. Also, many of the sentence types can be applied to narrative, non-fiction and even poetry so children will have ample opportunities to explore and understand each sentence type.

As the policy is implemented, it is expected that there will be an element of 'catch up' required in the first year; exploring the sentence types from year three and four with year five for example, but ultimately we aim to have a progression across the school where the children's learning of sentence types builds from year to year. By the end of year six, we hope that children will have a repertoire of 20+ exciting sentence types

This policy is not designed to be exhaustive and not all the sentence types have been selected to be used. It is an expectation that teachers will teach the sentence types appropriate to their year group and the year(s) below but will not teach the sentence types in subsequent years as these must be taught alongside the appropriate grammar modules at the appropriate time. Every staff member has access to a set of 'Exciting sentences' (1&2) 'Punctuation' and 'Word Games at Key Stage 2' by Alan Peat and it is an expectation that all staff familiarise themselves with the contents of these publications as part of ongoing CPD.

We will continue to review this progression policy and adapt as we feel is necessary.
